Admiral Stansfield Turner
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Stan:

Thank you very much for the invitation to the ceremony in which you relinquished command of the Allied forces of southern Europe. I should have liked to see it. It was thoughtful of you to remember your AMP experience as you passed this recent important junction point in your life. Congratulations on your appointment to head the Central Intelligence Agency and the approbation which the confirmation process accumulated for you in the Senate.

Given the controversies of recent years, this is indeed a challenging assignment. The maintenance of effective intelligence operations in the present climate is a task of reconciliation of divergent objectives of great magnitude. I hope it proves the culmination of your career in terms of satisfaction and personal reward as well as service to the country.

Sincerely yours,

Ken Andrews
